

Headteacher's hello

It's been a busy week with lots going on in the classes. Year 3 had a visit from the School Nurse on Monday and Year 1 have been busy immersing themselves in all things castles in readiness for their visit to Windsor Castle this coming Monday - they have made some very impressive cardboard castles! Year 4 have been practising their sewing skills making their Tudor purses and looks like we might have some candidates for the Sewing Bee programme! This is all in addition to the School Council taking part in a Health and Safety Walk with Mrs James, our Safeguarding Governor, who then spent some time with the School Council after the Health and Safety Walk asking them questions about being safe at school. On Tuesday we had our Spring Term visit from Mrs Newman, our Link Inspector from the Local Authority. She joined Miss Macklearn and myself for a visit to all the classrooms and she commented on how engaged and purposeful the children were in their learning and how they were able to talk confidently about the tasks they were undertaking during their lessons. Well done everyone!

This coming Tuesday is "Safer Internet Day" and along with many other schools across the country, the children will take part in a special assembly and undertake some activities in class, all linked to the theme of "Want To Talk About It". This aspect of online safety compliments many of the lessons the children do in both Computing and PSHE.

With the Six Nations Rugby Championship starting this weekend, good luck to Ireland, Scotland, Wales and England!

Have a restful weekend,

Mr Corke
